Maria Rosaria Gatto was graduated at the University of Bologna, both in Biologic Sciences and in Demographic and Statistics Sciences with honour.She was specialized at the University of Pisa in Hygiene and Public Health with honour and has attended four courses of the High School of Epidemiology "G. d'Alessandro" at "Ettore Maiorana" Center,Erice, Italy. Moreover Ha inoltre conseguito at the University of Bologna the Diploma of Statistics with honour.

She is confirmed researcher at the Odontostomatologic Sciences Department of the University of Bologna "Alma Mater Studiorum" and Aggregate Professor of Medical Statistics in the School of Dentistry. She was responsible of Socrates/Erasmus Project of the Odontostomatologic Sciences Department and partecipated in the Commission for the funding of research projects in the University of Bologna.

She authored more than 100 scientific publications, one-third of which in international peer-reviewed journals, 33 abstracts in internazional meetings and 51 abstracts in national meetings; she was involved in the planning of medical projects under the aegida of National Research Council (CNR). His main research interests are the planning of research protocols and the data analysis with particular emphasis on dental field.