RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

- Corporate Social Responsibility. Thanks to the knowledge developed in the State Aids sector from theoretical point of view in the PhD and from practical point of view working in International Law firm in Bruxelles, the present project is developing a comparative study about the re-positioning of the brand into the market thanks to investment in the cultural and art sector. In particular, the study aims to analyse, also from the economical perspective, the impact of fiscal incentive adopted by the EU Member States and supported with EU funds programme. Indeed, it aims to show the importance of a combined approach, the role of public support to enhance the development of industrial sector, a convergence thanks to partnership between public and private sector. The scope of this study is to propose a new model - including the applicable law, labour law, special incentive and tax regime - for supporting investment in the cultural and art sector in Italy. The expertise developed at a theoretical level will also be used to support companies in participating to national calls and applying for the EU funds with the Creative Europe programme/Horizon 2020.
