

Francesco Ciabuschi

Professor in International Business, Uppsala University

Francesco Ciabuschi has extensive teaching experience at all levels (bachelor, master, PhD, MBA and Executive); he has been teaching and visiting scholar at many foreign universities and business schools; he has directed and contributed to the development of several Master program, and he has developed many courses in international business, strategy and management.

His research interests concern international business, strategy, management of multinationals, state-owned multinationals, internationalization and global markets, reshoring of manufacturing, knowledge & innovation management, entrepreneurship, industrial marketing, IT and technology management, motor industry and pharmaceuticals.